

HOCKEY STICK BLADE COVER

Abstract

A hockey stick blade cover comprises a foot portion having a bottom, a toe, a top and an ankle portion. The foot and ankle portions have free edges which may be secured together by a zipper in any other suitable way. The cover is preferably made primarily of stretchable fabric and at least the said foot or blade enclosing portion includes an inner surface which resists adherence to adhesive such as tape typically used on hockey stick blades.